History

This attractive reverse layout cruiser stern narrowboat offers a practical and well-designed interior, with plenty of storage throughout—ideal for comfortable living or extended stays aboard.

She was last lifted out in January 2026 for hull blacking and a full survey, giving added peace of mind to prospective buyers. The hull was previously grit blasted and treated with epoxy coating in 2015, providing long-term protection.

The exterior would benefit from a repaint, which has been sensibly reflected in the asking price. The starboard side shows more noticeable wear due to mooring position and is the side featured in the photographs.
